From a Boston Letter.
ALL'S WELL THAT ENDS WELL.

A Boston Gentleman, for whom Dan-iel Webster Couldn't get a Divorce, Tries Iowa and an Iowa Wife—He Returns to Allo First Love.

In the City of Cambridge, which is connected with the "Hub" by a half-mile bridge, and which is noted because of its Harvard College, there revides a couple whose history furnishes more material for a novel than the developments of any ten Chicago divorce cases ever did or ever will. The said history is of such a peculiar nature that I am constrained to give it as a bit of govern though by strained to give it as a bit of gossip, though by request compelled to omit the names of the parties interested. Five and twenty years ago this couple were living together in a cheerful, happy and con-tented manner; and seemed to love each other so truly and fondly, that it was generally a cause of remark among their friends. They were blessed with heaith, wealth, and contentment; and but for ayoung gentleman who resided with them, the events I sm about to reliae would never have transpired. This young gentleman proving altogether too attentive to the lady, her husband became exceedingly Jeslous, and he considered that the intimacy had reached a point which necessitated an application for a divorce. Nothing of a criminal nature was proved against the wife, but it was clear she had been imprudent, and had given too much encouragement to the young gentleman in question. Her husband applied for a divorce, and engaged Daniel Webster as his counsel, while his wife was fortunate in securing the services of Rufus Choate. The trial was a memorable one, and will never be forgotten by those who witnessed it. Daniel Webster, in a brilliagt and Bunderous argument, kept the jurors convulsed with laughter for an hour or more but Chote had not been arguing on the other side fifter minutes ere the same jurors were all weeping vigorously, and the lauter's argument had such a petent effect that the case was decided against the husband, and he failed to secure the divorce.

Notwithstanding the law still allowed him

Notwithstanding the law still allowed him a wife, and made the marriage vows binding upon him, he refused to live with her whom he had vowed to "love and cherish," and moved to Philadelphia. Having lived in Quakerdom long enough to "gain a residence," he tried to obtain a divorce, but the back to Boston disgusted with Quakers in general, and those in Pennsylvania in particular.

After residing here for some time, it occurred to him that the loose jointed laws of loward would soon fee him of his festers, and to that State he hastesed. After Hingering in that beautiful land for one month, some humane jury, or judge, or both, presented him with the long sought divores, and oace more he drew the breath of freedom. The success he met with, doubtless, gave him an exatted idea of lows and her people, as he not only decided to permanently locate there, but took unto himself a wife in the shape of 150 pounds of lowa female, which, by the way, was not of the growth of Lowa, but was of Massachusetts extraction, and had only been matured in lows. She was a widow, and after taking her on a four to Europe, and returning to lowa, he was not at all surprised that she had survived her first liege lord, since it was evident her temper would soon return to dust the most perfect picture of Adam that ever existed. In fact, he concluded that if she had been Eve. Adam would not only have tested the forbidden fruit, but will have "gone a bushel." and taken a summer complaint out of Eden with him, which would have finished him inside of a month.

Arriving here, he became convinced that he had misjudged his first wife, and she had been far judged his first wife, and she had been far more faithful than the green-eyed monster had induced him to believe. He visited her, a reconciliation was effected, and they commenced to live together as of yore: and there was no impediment in this proceeding, because the lows divorce was illegal-injudicial minds here, and the subsequent marriage was placed in the same category. As one might readily conceive, the virago left husbandless in lows could not easily reconcile herself to this most undesirable state of affairs, as they involved the loss of wealth, to say nothing of the opportunities to pester and annoy one of the lords of creation. Mikado's troops are marching towards Yeddo, and thousands straggled largely into Yokahoma. Apparently uncontrolled disturbances were occurring. The people became siarmed, when the Ministers conferred with the government of Yokahoma, which resulted in the posting of American, Prussian, French and British soldiers and marines at the entrances to the settlement, prohibiting the entrance of armed Japanese with legation or Government passports. This insured security. The French, British, and Dutch Ministers remained at Hiago. After the settlement of the French indemnity they were invited to an audience with the Mikado, at Kiota, and subsequently returned to Yokahoma.

Mr. Ingersoll made a brief personal explanation relative to certain paragraphs in the Washington correspondence of the New York Tribune and Herald, to the effect that he, Ingersoll, followed Fessenden, Trumbull and Fewier on the impeachment question. He said a proposition was made by the Illinois delegation to send a letter to Mr. Trumbull, with a view to influincing his vote for conviction, or to his withholding if he could not vote for conviction. He (Ingersoil) and three others objected, viewing such action improper. He voted for impeachment, and had never seen a reason to change his mind. He did not know what Mr. Trumbull's option, nor those of any other Senator, and so far as outside pressure is concerned, he knew nothing about it.

From his high perch he has stretched up to grasp a higher round in the ladder of cilice, and it has treacherously given away before his ponderous weight, and percipitated him to the ground. He will rise no more. His iniquitous fall is seen of all men. His unscrupulousness is revealed to the glare of day. As he has shown himself to be cold-hearted, cold-brained, cold-thoughted-calculating, self-aggrandizing, traitorous, we may expect that he will maist on misrepresenting and disgracing his constituents for the remainder cold-thoughted—calculating, seit-aggrand-izing, traitorous, we may expect that he will insist on misrepresenting and disgracing his constituents for the remainder of his official term. But the Senate can, in a certain sense, speak the will of Illinois. Let the apostate be deposed from the responsible post of chairman of the Judiciary Committee. He is unworthy longer to hold a position which confers so much power to prevent mis-chief. This displacement is due to the State which Lyman Trumbuil has betrayed and hu-miliated. Disarm the traitor. We speak in the name of the Republican voters of Chi-cago—the home of this political Judas. Not having had opportunity for making a minute examination of Mr. WADE's entralls, we are compelled to take the assertion of the Republican (which we presume to have enjoyed greater advantages) on trust. We admit the size of Bluff BEN's heart, and also that it is "in the right place." Such is the fact in a strictly anatomical sense, with most animals—exen, dogs, hyenas and wolves. But what is the use of a big heart—say one the size of an average coose nut—if, instead of pumping rich, read healthy blood through the arteries, invigorating brain, muscle and nerve with its generous flow, it simply serves as a vehicle for the distribution of gall and wormwood throughout the system, to cuffel the milk of human kindness, turn charity to malice and kindness turn charity to malice and kindness, turn charity to malice and kindness turn proposed to turn lose in the national china

There are two radical organs published in Brazii, Clay county, the Miner and the Home Weekly. The former supports Major Carter and the latter General Hunter for Congress. Each accuses the other of having been bought up in the support of their favorite candidate. We presume that between the two the general public will get the exact truth. Saved by a Mute Alphabet.

I'll tell you a story how I saved my life once, entirely through having learned the deaf and dumb alphabet.

There were two little boys who used to come and stay with Frank and me when we were first married, and they could neither hear nor speak.

They were deaf and dumb; they could not talk except with their flugers—so—only ever so much quicker.

Frank and I learned this foreign alphabet on purpose that we might understand what

A lady in Maine, writing to General Hanf cock, calls up this reminiscence of the battle

It is appropriate that radicalism should call in question the loyalty and patriotism of

profound sensation. Most of the journals have editorials thereon. The Times says: The article was almost too vague for a substantial charge, but the vote corrects all fear of any party bias, and shows that the case was judged on its merits alone.

The Telegraph says: Dignity and decorum have marked the whole trial, and now the removal of the President is a mo-t fitting close. Even the most ultra radicals will be compelled to admit this at no distant day.

The Standard says: The radical plot has been beaten and the country saved the shame of the deposition of the Chief Magistrate, for refusing to obey an illegal axt of Congress.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL. INDIANAPOLIS, MONDAY EVENING, May 18, 1868.

The past week has been one of more than usual inactivity, to which various causes, some gen-eral, others local, have contributed. Among the prominent general features was the uncertainty of the impeachment question, and as long as the matter remained undecided there was not much disposition to transact business. To day, on this point has been revived, and everything looks encouraging for the incoming week. In addition to the general causes, the local influ-ence of almost continuous rains have materially interfered with business, driving operators with-in doors, and preventing, except in a limited and the shipment of stocks. With the es one day it has rained every day during the week. However, should as fair weather as today continue throughout the coming a week healthy reaction will doubtless be brougt abo ity. Receipts from the country have been very light, not more than equal to the demand, show-ing that the average of prices can not be low un-

Choice flours are very firm, while interme diate grades have ruled dull, and low grades in moderate inquiry. However, what demand there may be for any quality is mainly local. The market for wheat is in a dull and lifeless condition-a state which has characterized it fo while there is little or no shipment inquiry.

In corn the market is unprecedently dull—nothing of consequence offered, and but little call for the light receipts, except from feed store dealers, who have made a material advance of since our last report, the advance in prices hav-ing reached a point at which neither speculators nor shippers are inclined to operate. But, thus far, though the demand has falien off, ther has been no mate, ial reastion, and the advanced rates have been well sustained. Some few ship-ments have been made East to take advantage of the rise in that section, outside of which no much has been doing.

Groceries remain unchanged, though the demand is steady. Sugars have stiffened up a little, but are quotably the same. There is some increase in the demand for coffee, though aside from the sales made by the jobbing houses there is not much doing. Consumers, however, are buying more freely, as they do not anticipate any naterial change in prices soon. The general produce market is livening up

The general produce market is livening up. The old crop of buter is about exhausted, and the quantity of the new, which is now the sole dependence of the trade, coming forward, is not more than sufficient to fill the vacuum created by the exhaustica. No advance is made in prices. Eggs continue to be in liberal receipt, and supply full. Dr. Wm. Thomson has made the treatment of Private Diseases a specialty since the year 1801—three years in the city of Buffalo, New York, eight years in Chicago, Illinois, and two years in Feoria, Illinois. During eight years practice in Chicago, Illinois, he cured over thirteen thousand cases.

SEMINAL EMISSIONS, the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice, or depraved sequal indulgence, is practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing with unerring certainty the following train of medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, and noises like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various cruptions about the face, furred tongue, night sweats, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, more-mania, and frequently insanity.

The afflicted, on the first appearance of any of the above symptoms, should immediately apply to Dr. Wm. Thomson for relief.

DR. WRIGHT'S TARSYRUP

3"Facts are stubborn tni , 'says the old proverb, and in these alone do we intend to deal, in presenting WRIGHT'S TAR SYRUP to the public. All know the necessity of guarding against Colds, as well as the necessity for taking the proper remedies when the Colds are upon us. We say, without fear of contradiction, that the superior of Wright's Tar Syrup for the cure of Consumption, Coughs, Colds, Bronenius, and all diseases of the Throat and Lungs, does not exist. Below are testimonials from persons, some of whom are known in all parts of the country:

Dr. R. Shelton Mackenzie, Literary Editor Forney's Philadelpha Press, writes:

SILAD ELFRILA, July 20, 1867.

BILAD ELPHIA, July 20, 1867.

Dear Sir: Last Christmas, for the first time in my life, I was much afflicted by a very severe Cold, with almost constant Cough and sore chest. "Practice makes perfect" the prover's says, but the more I coughed the worse I did it. By what I then considered an accident, but now believe to nave been a Providence, I was induced to try Dr, wright's Tar Syrup, purchased from you, and was greatly relieved in two days, wholly cured in ten. It is not unpleasant to the taste, which is a good point. Many years ago, reading my way through an old library, I came across the works of that Bishop Berkeley, who prophetically and truly declared, more than accutury ago, that "Wests and the march of Empire takes its way." and among these were two treatises in which he then struck with the cogency of the good Bishop's arguments, and am now sure-from the efficacy of Dr. Wright's preparation of the same remedy-that they were entirely correct. Yours, truly, B. SHELTON MACKENZIE, L.L.D.

CONSUMPTION

CAN BE CURED Dear Sir: Having witnessed the operation of Dr. Wright's Tar Syrup in cases of Consumption, I cheerfully recommend it to all persons so affected. JESSE R. WALKER, Fourth and Chestnut streets, Philavielphia. Thomas Winmill, butcher, in Second street Market, Philadelphia, writes:

After suffering for two years with Consumption and constant hemorhages, I was induced to try Dr. Wright's Tar Syrup. After using six bottles, nealth returned, and I am now ab to attend to my business. nealth returned, and I am now abl to attend to my business. Druggist, Reading, Pa., writes: S. S. Stevens, Druggist, Reading, Pa., writes: Mr. J. J. Kromer: The gross of Tar Syrup purchased about three weeks ago is nearly all sold. My customers speak highly of it. *Send nalf a gross of it to my father, at Middletown, Pennsylvana, and charge it to me. C. B. Vansyckel, Druggist, Trenton, N. J., says: Dr. Wright's Tar Syrup does all you claim for it. I am selling largely of it, and with much sat-isfaction to my customers. Wright's Tar Syrup is sold by all Druggists and country Storkeepers. Price & I per bottle. One oottle will check the most aggravated Cough.

The City Assessor submitted a communication concerning the Hability of banking companies to be taxed on capital stock, and asking for an expression of the Council thereon. After setting forth the returns of the several banking companies of capital stock, he instances a particular case, and submits his question. The closing portion of the communication we here produce:

"The Hadianapolis Branch Banking Company report a capital stock of $29,000, yet none of the above mentioned firms and banking companies make any return to the city for fax able purposes, which I believe to be an evasion of sections 26 and 27 of an act to provide for the valuation and assessment of real and personal property, which requires as faxable purposes, which I believe to be an evasion of sections 26 and 27 of an act to provide for the valuation and assessment of real and personal property, which requires as average of the capital to be given in. This requirement of the law we have always enforced upon merchants and manufacturers, and now I submit the question to this Councit, whether: a banker's money is his stock, and subject to the same requirements.
